

Happy New Year from the Asatru Folk Assembly!

May each and every one of you have a happy, prosperous, and victorious 2010!

Over the past twelve days, I have posted our - now traditional - Twelve Days of Yuletide series. We have honored the old year, and praised the Sun in her rebirth. Now it is time to cast our attention to the year that lies before us.

This is going to be a fantastic year for Asatru and for the AFA. All sorts of good things are coming together to take us toward our goals!

Today, I will blot with AFA members from across northern California, to include brand-new additions to our ranks. We are attracting people with amazing talents, eager to apply them to the furtherance of our work.

We've got a whole new batch of clergy members, active men and women who have passed a strenuous course and are now willing to put their efforts to work for the good of the Gods and the Folk.

Our Folkbuilder coverage is better than ever - real people scattered all across the country and around the world, eager to give support to our growing AFA membership.

The Asatru "faith book" for military personnel is coming along nicely and I will have an announcement to make on this project within a week or so.

Change is in the air, and it is good. This is a great time to be in the AFA!

May all good blessings come to you and to yours in the coming year!

Steve McNallen

Asatru Folk Assembly
<http://runestone.org>

Steve Talks About Asatru on Nightwatch!

I just recorded an interview on Asatru that will air this coming Tuesday, 9 PM Central Time.

The show is called Nightwatch. It is carried on a number of affiliate stations, or you can listen online at www.jackaloperadio.com or nightwatchradio.com. It will be archived online, as well.

The subject was Asatru. We talked a lot about Asatru values, history, and about our connection to the ancestors. The interviewer, Todd Sheets, was enthusiastic and friendly.

Drop in and listen!

Steve McNallen

Asatru Folk Assembly

<http://runestone.org>

Steve McNallen Does a Second Asatru Interview!

I'm discussing Asatru on Nightwatch again - presumably on Tuesday, the 19th at 9 PM Central Time. You can catch it on their affiliates (Yes, this is a real radio station, not just an Internet phenomenon), or online at www.jackaloperadio.com or nightwatchradio.com. It will, of course, be archived as well. I'm told they had an unusually high number of hits after last week's show!

This time, interviewer Todd Sheets and I covered subjects ranging from runes, to the afterlife (to include my personal speculations), to the nature of ghosts.

I think it went pretty well - give it a listen!

Steve McNallen

Asatru Folk Assembly
<http://runestone.org>